The Position

As a Senior Registrar (SR) you will be working in our team to provide outstanding care to our women. With close support from the consultant staff you will consolidate your clinical skills towards successfully completing your FRANZCOG training (or equivalent). We support senior registrar involvement in complex pregnancy care, birth suite management as well as specialised and general gynaecology. You will have exposure to sub-specialities including advanced laparoscopic surgery, high risk obstetrics, colposcopy, urogynaecology, gynae-oncology, reproductive endocrinology and general gynaecology as well as teaching medical students and junior medical staff through Monash University School of Rural Health.

Our Obstetrics & Gynaecology Senior Registrars position is tailored to suit the individual needs of each successful appointee, with the added flexibility in the daily roster to meet the clinical requirements and maximise each SRs training goals, as the year progresses. We focus on developing clinical and non-skills required to be a consultant obstetrician and gynaecologist and we support a progressive move towards independence at the trainee's pace over the course of the year. Our positions are geared to the true generalist Obstetrics and Gynaecology advanced trainee, focusing on becoming independent in complex obstetrics care and general gynaecological procedures.

We are passionate about furthering your professional portfolio through your contribution to teaching, mentoring, and clinical governance. You will be working closely with consultants providing you with the opportunity for structured feedback and career guidance.
